Remarkable Tribute Is Paid To Wilson By Delegates As Democratic Convention Opens

Newton D. Baker To Lead Fight Against The Klan; To Demand Nations' League Plank

BY ROBERT J. BENDER.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 24.—Many famous names and many famous faces have been here today for the opening of the Democratic national convention. "Fair and cooler," was the official convention weather forecast for New York city, but "high temperatures and storms" was the unmistakable outlook for the actual convention area, as delegates and ticket buyers filed toward the garden long before noon, the hour set for calling the first session to order. It is to be a week of dramatic sensations—possibly two weeks—and each of these sensations packs danger to the party chances this fall.

Through the great garden stalk the madhouse issues of the Ku Klux Klan, the League of Nations, prohibition, the impending fight supreme between the men who aspire to lead the party in the coming campaign.

Candidates Ready For Turn
At their headquarters, temporarily set in the striking picture of a man in the lead, candidates for the presidential nomination await their turn. But on the platform here, out among the delegations are such names as Newton D. Baker, William

Wealthy Chicagoan Kills Himself

CHICAGO, June 24.—An inquest was to be held today in the suicide of William A. Field, minister-manufacturer and chairman. Field ended his life in his apartment Sunday afternoon by inhaling gas.

Circumstances surrounding the suicide were mysterious. Police said Field, according to his wife and business associates, had been in good spirits and had no financial or domestic troubles. Field was found in his room by a maid. A tube, leading from a gas jet, was in his mouth. A cardboard box was over the head, apparently to keep the gas from escaping and thus assure death.

Field, who was 55, was born in Nashville, Tenn. He was for thirteen years general manager of the Illinois Steel Company, and for the last five years had headed his own company, the William A. Field and company, electroplyers and engravers.

Democratic Chief Dies

DISSENSION BREAKS OUT IN THE OHIO DELEGATION

NEW YORK, June 24.—(United Press.)—An attempt at revolt in the Ohio Delegation against the anti-Klan plank approved yesterday flared up today, but was quieted in the interests of harmony.

N. E. Arnold, Marion, Ohio, a member of the delegation, petitioned former Governor Campbell, chairman of the delegation, asking for another caucus to rescind the action in which Newton D. Baker was instructed to present an anti-Klan plank to the resolutions committee. Arnold claimed 20 votes in support of his movement, but withdrew his petition at Campbell's behest.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 24.—(United Press.)—Discord broke out in the Ohio delegation to the Democratic National convention today as the first session got under way.

For a time it seemed to threaten the political fortunes of James M. Cox, to whom the Buckeye delegates had pledged their support as a candidate for the presidential nomination. Delegates said they believed however the difficulties could be straightened out before actual balloting begins.

The defeat of State Chairman W. W. Durbin for National Committee man by Ed Moore of Cleveland was the cause of the row.

Durbin, supported by a small band of his followers, declared in a formal statement that Cox had been responsible for his defeat for the National committee.

"The secret ballot," which, in my opinion was engineered by Cox managers to benefit Ed Moore, was responsible for a switch of votes to Moore, a reasonably sure victory for me into defeat," said Durbin.

"I am told," Cox telephoned Henry Goetz, of Lima, that it would not do to defeat Moore, who is his floor leader. Delegates were told of this, too.

Senator Pat Harrison Delivering Keynote Speech

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi as he appeared today delivering his keynote address to the delegates to the Democratic Convention assembled in Madison Square Garden in New York.

Harrison's Reference To Former President Starts Roaring, Ten Minute Demonstration

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, June 24.—(By United Press.)—The Democratic National Convention swung through its first session today, swayed by the skillful and forceful oratory of Senator Pat Harrison and cleared the way for its first big battle—that over the platform.

It was a hot day and it was still hotter in the Garden.

Harrison, nevertheless, swung the delegates to high pitches of enthusiasm and once at the end of a long demonstration for Woodrow Wilson there was a moment when the great throng resembled a revival while the band was playing "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah," the crowd slowly drifted forward on the speakers' platform and lifting her hand sang the verses of the hymn and led the crowd in the chorus. The vision in white was Miss Anna Case, star Metropolitan opera soprano, and she sang a momentary spell over the convention which added to the striking tribute paid to the memory of Wilson.

In fact the initial session was permeated with the atmosphere of respect for the Democratic war president. Every reference to his name brought cheers and applause and on one occasion a demonstration lasted approximately fifteen minutes.

The closing scene of the first day found a little woman—Mrs. Reeves of the state of Washington—cupping the tribute to the party's dead leader. Resisting a crowd of admirers, she bowed him as an incomparable American. Mrs. Reeves moved that the convention adjourn out of respect for his memory until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The motion carried, the adjournment was taken and the resolutions committee went immediately to the Waldorf Hotel to begin their deliberations over the party platform.

Fought Perils Of Air And Illness Maughan Completes Dawn-To-Dusk-Flight

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., June 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan wrote a new and spectacular chapter in the history of man's conquest of the air yesterday when he spanned the North American continent in less than a day.

The hazardous and grueling flight was his third attempt. He left Mitchell Field, New York, at 2:50 p. m., in a standard time, but after a brief stop at a refueling station across the mountains and plains, fought fatigue and constantly recurring nausea for 21 hours, 47 minutes, 45 seconds, and arrived at Crissy Field, San Francisco, at 1:15 a. m. Pacific time last night.

Warm and nervous from his long and bitter struggle with the perils of the air and the illness which had gripped him, the courageous trail blazer was cheered in a cheering, wildly excited mass of humanity, which extended to him an almost unparalleled ovation when his arrival.

"It's good to be here," he said as jubilant comrades of the air lifted him hoistly from the cockpit of his plane. "I am tired but happy."

The celebrations reception was in the contrast to the lonely single-handed battle which the aviator waged throughout the day in his race with the sun.

Lieutenant Maughan soared away from Mitchell Field in the waiting light of a half moon, undisturbed by prospects of some unfavorable weather, a cloud-bank that obscured the knowledge of his previous failures.

From the start he encountered rough weather, but surmounted all difficulties, as he drove his powerful P. W. S. army pursuit plane with the sun.

Darkness enfolded San Francisco Bay as Lieutenant Maughan appeared. The dome of his motor came to the eyes of the waiting thousands and they broke into a preloved cheering. The flyer circled the field twice, his plane blotting from view part of the time by a light mist. Then he shot downward and taxied almost to the door of the army headquarters in a perfect landing.

The belt buckle of the world had been pulled up a few more inches.

Cox To Retain Hold On Ohio Delegation To the Last

NEW YORK, June 24.—(By United Press.)—James M. Cox is determined not to lose his hold on Ohio's 48 votes until the last vestige of success has faded. This fact slightly upsets previous calculations. It was believed the Cox votes would be released after the complimentary had been dispensed to the more significant delegates to the convention today in the attitude of Newton Baker, Judson Harmon, Moore, Campbell, W. W. Durbin and Ed. Moore, all influential Ohioans.

Back of this determination of Cox is the League of Nations issue, with both Cox and Baker holding the time light as exponents of the Woodrow Wilson doctrine in foreign relations.

Newton D. Baker of Cleveland was to go before the platform committee today and urge on its members a plank denouncing the Ku Klux Klan and another favoring the League of Nations. He goes instructed by the Ohio delegates.

The control of both political organizations in Ohio is now centered in Cleveland. Ed. Moore was named national committeeman for Ohio in the Democratic party and Maurice Maschke was elected Republican national committeeman.

After Moore was due here today. Henry Goetz, Lima, having been picked to substitute for him until the ex-senator's arrival.

Davis Being Used As Weapon Of Attack To Weaken The Chances Of McAdoo's Nomination

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1924.)

NEW YORK, June 24.—Although the balloting for nominations will not come until Thursday or Friday, a number of things are developing as the delegates of the Democratic National convention assemble, which give an interesting line on what is going to happen.

DEMOCRATS SEEK TO DIVERT DELEGATES ON KLAN ISSUE

(BY FRASER EDWARDS)
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

UNITED PRESS HEADQUARTERS, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—(By the United Press.)—In their desperate efforts to divert the minds of delegates from the bitter fight over the Klan, Democratic leaders today succeeded in bringing to the fore the League of Nations, taxes, tariff and farm relief.

To this end Chairman Cordell Hull, of the National Committee, made public a letter from Col. E. M. House, urging the adoption of a plank in the platform pledging the Democratic party to advocate the United States joining the League of Nations.

Thus, House, who is now in Europe, pointed out the evils of entangling alliances would be dispelled.

While the McAdoo and Anti-McAdoo factions continue to quarrel over the proposed plank mentioning the Klan by name, other leaders who are looking for a winning issue in the campaign put forward further tax reduction, adjustment of the tariff so as to lower the cost of living and practical farm relief. This progressive has the support of Tom Taggart, of Indiana, who has thus far held aloof from the bitter Klan fight.

Kills Wife, Shoots Children and Self

NEW YORK, June 24.—(By the United Press.)—Suffering from the delusion that his wife and children had been taken to another world, George A. Goegan, 60, a contracting plasterer, shot his wife to death, wounded his son and daughter, and made a futile attempt to kill himself today.

Mrs. Goegan ran mortally wounded to the home of a neighbor where she died an hour later. Those who went to the contractor's home found him making a speech from the front porch about "winning out the whole brood."

The son and daughter lay seriously wounded in the kitchen.

Some months ago, Goegan was sent to a sanitarium where his condition was examined. At the time he suffered from delusions regarding the legitimacy of his children, who were in their thirties. He returned to his family apparently cured.

Nominee Race Still Free-For-All As Democratic Convention Opens; Platform Planks Still In Doubt

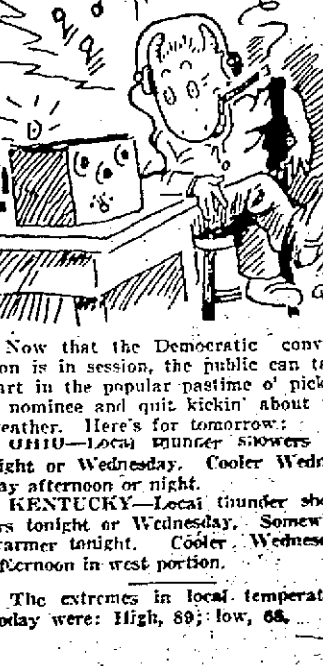

NEW YORK, June 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Democratic National convention set out today to lay down a platform and find a presidential nominee, but the delegates, however, were not given a day off by any means, for the actual start of the convention—mild though it might be—was observed as a signal for redoubled efforts by the campaigners for the host of candidates.

"Flaming Youth" A Story of the Present "Jazz" Age Made Big Hit at the Columbia Yesterday

Tense drama, charming romance, and a picture of the present "jazz" age made "Flaming Youth" a big hit at the Columbia yesterday.

This is the picture which is painted by "Flaming Youth," a startling First National picture which opened last night at the Columbia Theatre for a four-day showing.

The play can be in a way, be considered an exposé of modern society life and yet it is more than that for it tells an absorbing dramatic and romantic story, centering for the most part around a young girl who is brought up in an atmosphere of unconventional frivolity.

Brought up in such an environment, it was natural that Patricia Fenris, the youngest daughter of the Fenris family, should look upon love and marriage in the same light as the conventional merry-makers with whom she was constantly thrown.

Love was but a superficial passion and marriage only a matter of form. So reasoned Patricia Fenris and she held her course accordingly. From one affair to the other she leaps with amazing rapidity. She plays with the and glories in the discomfort of her "victims" and then she meets real love.

But real love does not awaken a desire for marriage in Patricia, who reasons that marriage destroys love and romance and points to the matrimonial failures of her set as proof. But of course, the girl is wrong, and she comes to a realization of this after passing through a number of experiences which could be expected to come to a girl who reasoned as Patricia Fenris did.

One of the big dramatic incidents of the picture is when the girl finds herself trapped on a yacht, and at the mercy of one of her admirers to whom she had been attracted because, like herself, he sought life unrestrained by laws or conventions.

Brought to a vivid consciousness of his purpose, the girl battles with the man from one end of the vessel to the other, until finally in desperation she leaps over the side of the boat.

Colleen Moore is charming as the naive young adventuress and Milton Sills is admirable in the role of the one lover, among the several admirers, whose love finally restores Patricia to a sane viewpoint of life.

The remainder of the cast, which handled their lesser roles quite as effectively, comprise Elliott Dexter, Myrtle Stedman, Sylvia Bremer, Betty Francisco, Phillips Smaller, Walter McGrath, Ben Lyon and others.

Is Captured After Exciting Chase; Held To Grand Jury; Claims He Lost Money On Races; Family Is Here

CINCINNATI, O., June 24.—Fifteen minutes after he is alleged to have held up a grocery in Newport, Ky., robbing the cash register of $21.50 and dashing for liberty with two ice men armed with ice picks and ice tongs, in pursuit, Ora C. Penny, 39, of Portsmouth, Ohio, was in jail Tuesday.

Penny is charged, entered the Kroger Grocery company's branch store at Seventh and Monroe streets Newport, shortly after Chester Al. For ten minutes he hung around and finally told Alfred that he wanted a job. The manager advised him to go to the company's Newport headquarters and after Penny remained motionless for another ten minutes, Alfred told him to get out. Still he remained immobile.

Alfred, becoming suspicious, picked up a tomato can and threatened to throw it unless Penny departed. Penny, he said, never had been in a grocery before. Last Saturday I went to Landon where I lost seventy-five dollars on the races. It was all the money I had and I had promised my wife at Portsmouth that I would send it to her so she could bring the children up here. When police examined his revolver they said he could not have discharged it because the bullets were so small they slipped down the barrel.

Jennings Bryan, Senator Royal S. Copeland, Governor Albert Ritchie of Maryland, and many others, whom the presidential campaign may strike before this quadrennial session ends.

On most of the major issues before the delegates there is likely to be minority reports from the resolutions committee, resulting in prolonged debate from the floor. What speaker may stampede the convention during his address on one of these issues—and lay the foundation stones for his own nomination after those formally presented have run their race? What dominant issue will emerge at last as the one upon which the nomination must face the electorate this fall?

Never has a Democratic convention met in an atmosphere of such uncertainty and surcharged with such bitterness and dangers as mark this one. With the appointment of the committee on platform and resolutions after Senator Pat Harrison thunders forth his keynote speech this afternoon, the maneuvers for leadership will definitely begin.

Baker, Heals Anti-Adoo Forces—Newton D. Baker, 61, came from Ohio, and assigned to the resolutions committee from that state, technically assumes direction of the anti-McAdoo campaign, with his demands for a League plank in the platform and a relentless attitude against the Klan. He will make the speech of his career in the resolutions committee to stand fast for the principals of Woodrow Wilson and keep his pledge of American cooperation in the League. Such is his feeling on the subject that, should the resolutions committee refuse to counterbalance a League plank, he might, through a minority report, carry the issue out upon the convention floor. There he would address the convention as a whole. Watch him then. Baker, too, supports a strong anti-Klan plank as virile as those drafted by E. H. Moore of Ohio and Senator Underwood of Alabama. And, with Baker's alignment in this element, the Klan issue appeared more and more likely to dominate the convention deliberations and possibly emerge as the foremost issue of the Democratic party in the coming campaign. Such is the bitterness of the delegates here on the subject that some of the foremost leaders in the party are now claiming that the Klan would furnish the party the best talking point available this year—would assure the votes of thousands of Republicans and would materially cut into the strength of Senator Robert M. La Follette's independent candidacy in the rural sections where the Klan is strong.

Pre-Primary

Says Pre-Primary Convention Necessary

The speaker asserted that the pre-primary convention, which will designate certain candidates, is necessary.

"Our proposal," he said, "is not to give up the primary, but to supplement it by a pre-primary conference or convention. Let the reformer have

THINK

Did you ever stop to think of how much you spend each month on petty things that you really don't need?

Few people keep an itemized account of expenditures; and this is why so many dollars slip away that could be "chucked away" for something really useful.

the primary, but let the believer in government by party and the citizen who trusts his party representatives and desires to rely upon them, have his convention.

He urged the Republican party to "meet the issue squarely."

"There is nothing sacred about the state-wide primary as it exists today," he continued. "Change of policy based upon new experience is a fundamental rule of life."

He said the primary is "ham-stringing the government at Washington" by permitting control by factions or blocs instead of by parties.

"We also see a multiplicity of candidates," he continued. "In Ohio today there are eight candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. Their personal platforms in some instances are as far apart as the poles. Yet this convention is by law committed to create a party platform."

"It will have to be a platform of platitudes or some of the gubernatorial candidates must perform strange political gymnastics for all to stand up on it."

The right way, he asserted, is for the convention to draft a platform, then designate a candidate to stand upon it.

Says Republicans Kept Pledges—McAdoo treated state issues in detail. He asserted that the Republican majority in the legislature has kept its platform pledges despite "the opposition of a Democratic governor."

"The record of Governor Donahay has been one of broken promises, extravagance, absence of constructive policies and disrespect for law," he declared.

He charged there has been an increase of nearly $1,000,000 a year in the costs of the Donahay regime. Specific recommendations for the Republican party, made in his address were:

1. HIGHWAYS—To favor a complete system of hard surface roads. To help the weaker counties build roads and to reduce assessments on abutting property owners.

2. TAXATION—To establish the budget system in local finances.

3. To provide a "household rule" in taxation and as far as possible a "pay-as-you-go basis."

4. To favor the period appraisal of real estate.

5. To determine whether it is possible to divest some of the present surplus in the state treasury by financially hard-pressed school districts and schools.

form a definite estimate of strength.

To date there is a growing combination which has for its primary object the defeat of McAdoo because until he is eliminated there is little chance for Smith or any of the dark horses. So the entire field has been combed for a working coalition which will operate constantly against McAdoo in as many ballots as shall be necessary.

The hand of the anti-McAdoo forces having been shown, his supporters have realized their efforts to hold their lines, and even McAdoo himself has been receiving delegates for the last 24 hours, arguing with them in person about the need for a Progressive candidate.

McAdoo's speech denouncing certain New York newspapers for unfair treatment also was a part of the pre-convention strategy, the same representing an effort to win friends on the ground that the cards are stacked against him.

The middle of it all comes the New York World with an editorial supporting McAdoo, but this is only a maneuver to determine the strength of the anti-McAdoo combination, for while there are a number of delegates who are by no means converted to the idea of nominating Smith, they have first to be convinced that McAdoo should be deserted.

There is no doubt that McAdoo has lost several delegates since last Saturday, but there is also every reason to believe he has picked up several he did not have before.

Why

Why Do You Eat So Many Potatoes?

Surely you don't like to prepare them. They take from 35 to 40 minutes to peel and cook, are always dirty and messy, and make your hands red, rough and grimy. They are not very economical. There are a number of bad ones in every basket, they contain 62% water, and 15% is wasted in peeling.

They are a good food—yes; but study the chart below and you will see that as an all-around everyday food they leave much to be desired!

As a change from potatoes, serve Mueller's Macaroni, Elbow Macaroni, Spaghetti, and Egg Noodles. Your family will welcome the change, and benefit by it. Mueller's is the Macaroni "with the better taste"—everybody likes its delicious appetizing flavor. Your children will pass their plates for more—and there is strength, energy and material for sturdy growth in every morsel of it.

Get a box of Mueller's from your grocer today and serve it in place of potatoes tonight.

"In Place of Potatoes"

Mueller's cooks in 9 minutes. Think of the time saved when you're in a hurry!

There is no dirt, no mess, no peeling to dispose of. No waste—100% pure, wholesome, nutritious food.

It saves your hands from redness and roughness.

Best of all—you can serve it just as you do potatoes—with butter, with sauces, with meat gravies or with sauerkraut.

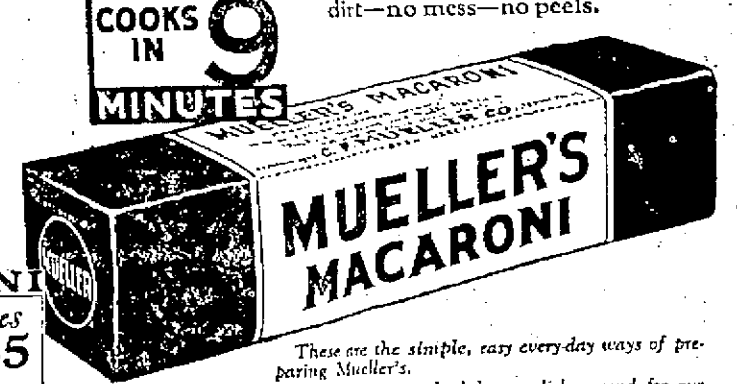

Instead of creamed potatoes, serve Mueller's Elbow Macaroni prepared the same way. In place of potatoes au gratin, use any one of the Mueller Foods; instead of fried potatoes, fry Mueller's Egg Noodles.

Eat Mueller's Macaroni the same as potatoes. No dirt—no mess—no peels.

delegates can change any preconceived plan and can even defeat McAdoo. The McAdoo camp has in it many able generals who know Democratic politics from "A" to "Z."

Many of his delegates are last ditch men. And while it may be true that a one-third group has been organized to defeat McAdoo, it is also true that McAdoo can demolish the convention by a one-third group of his own before yielding. Should the McAdoo boom collapse after several ballots, one promise to which many McAdoo men testify is that Senator Carter Glass of Virginia would be favored. Glass is a controversial figure in this respect, especially as many anti-McAdoo men have been talking of John W. Davis so much that the West Virginian may truly be said to be a strong third. To weaken the McAdoo votes the anti-McAdoo scouts are whispering praise of Davis. In fact it looks now as if the opposition to McAdoo may even try to crush him by starting the bidding for Davis early enough to bring him up close to the former Secretary of the Treasury and even perhaps permitting him to pass McAdoo. Davis is not an active candidate here, but he is being used as a weapon of attack. He has the strong disinterested support of several delegations, but this is one of the reasons why he is being held by the anti-McAdoo forces as a means of disintegrating the McAdoo boom. There is a good deal of genuine sentiment for Davis in the ranks of the McAdoo followers, a fact which the opponents of McAdoo have been quick to exploit.

William Jennings Bryan is opposed to Davis on the ground that he has been an attorney for the Morgan interests. But this, as well as the oil issue, has been temporarily overshadowed by the Ku Klux Klan controversy. The forces opposed to McAdoo must have the support of the Klan, and since he has not specifically repudiated the Klan, the opposition to McAdoo is thereby gaining strength, for unquestionably this convention is anti-Ku Klux Klan and will not trouble to get its support.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Being a reader of your column I would like a little advice. I am 23 years of age, and have been married to the same man twice. The first time we were married a girl in a year-by city separated us. After that I left and went North and supported myself. I stayed away three years, but finally came back on a visit as this is my home town. He heard I was in the city and sent for me to come to see him. I went, and he finally convinced me to come back to him. He said he would be better and make a nice home for me. That was last October. Now, Dolly, he was as good as his word and we have our little home, but he is jealous of me. I think it is my duty as a wife, but I refuse to do anything for him that he can do for himself. He says he was always used to having someone wait on him. He never takes me anywhere and he never wants me to go with anyone else, not even my sister. Dolly, no other man ever enters my mind, much less my home. If I say I need certain little things he raises a row about it and calls me all kinds of names. Dolly, I always wore swell clothes before I was married, and while I was making my own living, and I am good looking if I do say so myself, but I am not a bit proud about it. I am just an ordinary little girl. My husband is proud of himself, and buys everything he wants, while I have to do without lots of things, even what I would like to have to eat. Dolly, he always holds up for this girl, who broke up our home, and I would like to know what you think about it?

—BLUE EYES.
I don't think you will ever get along or be happy until you both decide to go 50-50 on the marriage proposition. So long as you think he is trying to impose upon you and vice versa, there will also be more or less friction in your home. I think you should do little things that will please your husband occasionally, even if you do have to make a few sacrifices. People who live selfish lives are never happy. If I were you I would not mention the other girl. Let that page of your life be closed for ever. If you keep nagging your husband about her he will defend her, even if he doesn't care anything about her.

—WANT TO KNOW.
The Kentucky license fee is black, with white figures and the West Virginia is maroon, with white figures.

—DEAR DOLLY—Will you please tell me what color of automobile license is used in Kentucky and West Virginia?

—DEAR DOLLY—I live out in the sticks and have been told that the person who answered the Dolly Wise questions was a man. Will you please tell me the truth about this?

—ANXIOUS READER.
Dolly is not a man. Next time you come to town, come around and see for yourself. I have visitors from the sticks nearly every day.

Children make constipation a habit—relieve them with Kellogg's Bran

Children punish themselves terribly by ignoring nature's demands. They bring constipation upon themselves. They invite the many other diseases which can be traced to constipation. Immediate steps should be taken to rid them and keep them free from this disease.

It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective. That's what Kellogg's Bran is. That's why doctors everywhere recommend Kellogg's Bran. That's why Kellogg's Bran carries a money-back guarantee to bring permanent relief, if eaten regularly, in the most chronic cases of constipation. That's why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and kneaded, has brought glorious, glowing health to thousands—because it is ALL bran.

No matter how long one has suffered with constipation, Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief IF EATEN EVERY DAY—at least two tablespoons—in chronic cases, with every meal.

There are many ways to serve Kellogg's Bran. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Look for the recipes on every package and try it in muffins, bread, griddle cakes, etc.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and kneaded, is made in Battle Creek and is sold by grocers everywhere. It is served by the leading hotels and clubs.

The LAND OF FORGOTTEN MEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Peter Newhall, Augusta, Ga., flees to Alaska, after being told by Ivan Ishmin, Tussock violinist, he had drowned Paul Sarichef, Ishmin's secretary. Ishmin and Peter's wife, Dorothy, had urged him to go to South America. He joins Big Chris Larson in response to a distress signal at sea, giving Larson his sea jacket. Their launch hits rocks. Larson's body is buried as Newhall's Peter, rescued, finds injuries have completely changed his appearance.

Dorothy and Ishmin go to Alaska to return Peter's body. They do not recognize Peter in their head guide. A storm strands them at the grave. "Change name," a message from a source, Dorothy believes to be Ivan Peter, telling her to accept Ishmin's marriage proposal. Upon Ishmin's return from a trip for supplies, he and Dorothy are married by a native priest. Peter goes to give them best wishes. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. The girl spoke sharply in the silence. "Peter Newhall, my dead husband," she answered in evident awe.

"What word came from beyond the grave?" Peter went on solemnly. He was partly acting on inspiration now—an urge that he did not know—and partly in a deliberate attempt to take advantage of Ivan's Asiatic superstitions. "Peter Newhall that was your husband is dead, but his ghost has been here all the time—both of you know it." The girl's eyes flamed with tears, and she nodded. "Ivan, the ghost of Peter Newhall is guarding this girl still. It will guard her clear to the end—I'm not a medium, as Joe is, yet I know that as well as I know anything. Worship her and thank God for her and be kind to her—and your soul will be saved, fine at the first wickedness of which you are so easily capable—the ghost of Peter Newhall will bound you to your destruction!"

Ivan stared like a stricken man. Peter took a long-drawn breath, then turned to Dorothy. "I want you to remember, too," he told her gently, his eyes fixed on hers, "the ghost of your husband is watching over you—believe me, because it's true! If you ever need him, he will be there to help you. If you ever need me—your guide that is more than a guide—I will come, no matter how many seas I have to cross. All you have to do is to send for me."

To Dorothy, it was like an unearthly vision. She knew, with a sure knowledge that this man meant exactly what he said, and she had experienced a new sense of security and peace that could never be passed away. Already this seer was turning to go. His trembling hand was at the flap of the tent.

He seemed to be listening. As she watched, fascinated, she saw the rapid look leave his face, and a look of common earthly interest take its place. He bent his head, straining, then turned to Ivan.

"It's the squaw, I guess," he said. "She's already come with the supplies."

They heard dragging steps; then the crackle of dead twigs that were strewn about the camp fire. Some one with a heavy load halted just outside the flap of the tent.

Peter drew aside the flap, and the candle light streamed out into the gloom. It was not an Indian squaw who had brought this back-load of supplies from across the Peninsula. The black-haired, stalwart man who stood without coat or hat, looking as if he had come from the Savannah, was Peter Newhall.

CHAPTER XVII.
Sarichef Appears.

There could not be the least doubt of Sarichef's identity. All three actors in the drama knew him at the first glance, with certain recognition not to be mistaken. His clothes were rough and worn, but physically he was unchanged since Peter had last seen him on the launch on the Savannah.

The girl's eyes flamed with tears, and she nodded. "Ivan, the ghost of Peter Newhall is guarding this girl still. It will guard her clear to the end—I'm not a medium, as Joe is, yet I know that as well as I know anything. Worship her and thank God for her and be kind to her—and your soul will be saved, fine at the first wickedness of which you are so easily capable—the ghost of Peter Newhall will bound you to your destruction!"

CHAPTER XVII.
Sarichef Appears.

There could not be the least doubt of Sarichef's identity. All three actors in the drama knew him at the first glance, with certain recognition not to be mistaken. His clothes were rough and worn, but physically he was unchanged since Peter had last seen him on the launch on the Savannah.

The girl's eyes flamed with tears, and she nodded. "Ivan, the ghost of Peter Newhall is guarding this girl still. with his Oriental ardor, had schemed to win her away from her husband; and he had known no law but his own. That he should have neither scruples nor mercy was wholly in character; he was a strong, profound, relentless man, and he had never been one to be swayed from his purpose. He had craved Dorothy with an unholiness, his genius demanded to prey upon her, and when a drunken quarrel aboard the launch on the Savannah River had given him his opportunity, he had been remorseless in taking advantage of it. Sarichef had been told to disappear; Ivan had contrived the wicked lie that had been Peter's downfall. When Peter had awakened from drunken slumber he had been easy to convince that he had actually committed the crime that Ivan swore he had seen. Peter's only amazement was that this remorseless man had stopped where he did; that Sarichef had not actually been slain to add plausibility to his story, or he himself—by cunning, deliberate, carefully covered murder—wiped from his rival's path.

The flood of venomous rage that might have been expected did not at once sweep over Peter, partly because the drama of the moment carried him above it, partly from sheer amazement at this incredible, unexpected visitation. He felt oddly cool, capable of deliberate thought. The moment was inordinately vivid, rather than dreamy; his realities still caressed—the clouds that hid the stars, the camp fire glowing dully, the wide bed of straw at his feet and the curious flesh drying behind the camp stove. The moan of the sea carried through the moment, unbroken; and the wind still yelled and blustered, flagging the canvas with mauling frenzy without an instant's cessation. After one great start which seemed to be wholly internal—one single, violent impulse throughout the strong core of his nervous system that showed not at all in his face or frame—all his powers seemed to rally, vouchsafing him not only perfect self-control, but a certain penetrating, inflexible quality of thought. Outwardly this was Dorothy and Ivan's drama solely; neither in look nor word did he give any sign that he recognized Sarichef. Such action might immediately reveal his own identity.

To Dorothy the sight of that startled face that she recognized instantly as that of her husband's supposed victim was like a shattering fist at her breast. Her throat froze and she could not cry out; but instead of dullness and insensibility, a white light of super-consciousness seemed to pervade the senses, to her also the whole truth became vividly and cruelly manifest, and she was acutely sensitive, as in a death by fire, of all its tragic phases. Her hands clasped, her face was deathly white, ugly and haggard from unbearable pain.

At the same time her thought moved with a cruel clarity. She knew now why Ivan had urged Peter's flight instead of encouraging him in his first intention to stay and fight the murder charge through the courts. She saw now why Ivan had directed him south, clearing the way and arranging for his concealment in the Brazilian forests; he had known that Sarichef had come south and he had wanted to guard against a possible meeting of the two men. She understood why he had been so moved and stirred, like a man who has just come safely through an unseen danger, when he had not the word that Peter had died in the North rather than the South, and why he had opposed so bitterly and earnestly her own venture into the North in search of her husband's body. He had feared that she might encounter and identify Sarichef. Over and above the fact of this present meeting, it was justifiable fear. The North has but a comparatively small white population, and they are so trails sooner or later, particularly in this search of refuge for missing men. He likely knew that Sarichef had gone somewhere in this immediate vicinity—probably on the other side of the Peninsula—and therefore he had insisted on going himself on the expedition after supplies rather than send one of the guides who might, in the process of truth, encounter Sarichef, enlist his aid as employer's behalf, and bring him back as one of a rescue party to the camp.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

There are Balloon Tires—and Balloon Tires

BY this time the facts about the advantages of Balloon Tires are pretty well known and accepted.

Briefly—almost perfect shock absorption, easier riding, higher speed over rough roads, less wear and tear on the car, increased braking effect, decreased tendency toward skidding. The question of balloon tires comes down to this:

(1) Do they give service?

(2) Should I get them?

In so far as U.S. Royal Cord Balloon Tires are concerned, the answer to the first question is emphatically "Yes!"

They are made by the largest rubber organization in the world and one of the largest producers of low air pressure tires.

They are built of Latex-treated cords—by the method developed, patented and owned by the makers of U.S. Tires. They have the combination of flexibility and strength which is the first and foremost requisite. They are accurately balanced—safe and easy to steer at all speeds.

Now for the second question:

Before you attempt to answer it, or let any one answer it for you in an advertisement or booklet, you should see the U. S. Sales and Service Dealer.

He is in close touch with the nearest U. S. Branch and can help you to determine whether you should change to U. S. Royal Cord Balloon Tires (for 20 and 21 inch rims)—U. S. Royal Cord Balloon-Type Tires (built to fit present wheels and rims)—or stick to U. S. Royal Cord High Pressure Tires.

It depends a great deal on your car and how you use it. See the U. S. Sales and Service Man.

Jealous Man Slays Woman And Himself

DETROIT, June 24.—A quarrel over another man led to the slaying of Hazel McCort, 25, and the subsequent suicide of Leon B. Merrick, 32, police said today.

The couple had been known as Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McKenna.

They were heard quarreling about midnight Saturday and the woman rushed out, followed by Merrick.

"I'm going to take the car and leave you forever," the woman exclaimed.

doing here? Blackmail, I suppose."

The man's blank face showed he was utterly baffled. He seemed to be feeling a blow. "I don't know—I can't explain."

Underwood In Ring On Anti-Klan Platform

NEW YORK, June 24.—Arrived with a dramatic and specific arraignment of the Ku Klux Klan by name, which he desired to be placed in the Democratic national platform, Senator Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama, formally followed his hat into the presidential ring and was on the job in person at his campaign headquarters. His appearance in the headquarters was greeted with cheers and shouts by supporters and visitors.

Discussing the situation with reporters, the Alabama senator let it be known that while he wished the flat, bald anti-Klan statement he had framed, written into the platform, he was concerned more with the principle involved than the language used. Underwood did not make a strong declaration which left no room in anybody's mind. The senator indicated he would no longer regard himself as "available" for the presidential nomination.

As to the prospects for his nomination, the Alabama senator seemed to have no illusions. He would not go beyond saying that if he did not believe he had a chance, he would not be asking his friends to work for him as they are.

Favor Minimum Pay Law For Teachers

CEDAR POINT, OHIO, June 24.—Sentiment favorable to a minimum salary for teachers, was expressed tonight at the banquet held here by Ohio teachers preliminary to the opening of the annual convention of the Ohio State Teachers' association tomorrow.

Former presidents of the association, who were speakers, declared that small schools throughout the state are poorly supported because teachers cannot be found to fill the positions at existing salaries.

To Prevent Bloating

That bloated, stuffy feeling you get after eating is due to excess gas in the stomach and bowels. Sometimes it is accompanied by a burning sensation in the stomach, extreme nervousness, headache, drowsiness, shooting pains in the heart region or abdominal palpitation. Shortness of breath or a terrible feeling of oppression.

Practically all such discomfort results from gas pressure, which is often so great that the heart action is involved and circulation impeded. Neglect of this condition may in time lead to serious consequences.

Epsa Gas Tablets are most effective in relieving acute attacks of gas and preventing their recurrence. If taken before and after meals they will aid in correcting the digestive weakness which permits the formation of abnormal gas. A good supply of Epsa Gas Tablets can be obtained for $1.

Sold in Portsmouth by Fisher & Streich Pharmacy, or any other reliable drug store. Harmless—pleasant—no objectionable odor. See the U. S. Sales and Service Man.

Caparra Electrocuted For Killing Policeman

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.—Vincenzo Caparra, Akron, sentenced from Jefferson county for the murder of Policeman William Snyder, was electrocuted in the Ohio penitentiary this morning at 1:06.

Caparra entered the death chamber with a steady walk. He made no statement while being strapped in the chair, but after the death mask had been put in place he said:

"Good-bye, everybody."

As the electricity was turned on he was mumbling a prayer. He entered the death chamber at 1:02 accompanied by a Roman Catholic priest. The current was turned on at 1:05.

Medical Science Has Added 25 Years To Average Life, He Says

CLEVELAND, June 24.—The average life has been increased 25 years in the past century through the scientific study of disease prevention by the medical fraternity, Dr. Gilbert Fitzpatrick declared here today in an address at the 15th convention of the American Institute of Homoeopathy.

The average life age today is 39 years compared with 27 years at the time the medical war was started, Dr. Fitzpatrick said. He predicted it would be lengthened still more with the ultimate development of the Gorge Memorial Institute in Panama and urged members of the institute to lead this influence to a campaign under way to raise a fund of $5,000,000 for scientific research.

The ruling which permits physicians to prescribe the whisky, gin and tonic, which "furnishes nourishment," was attacked by Dr. Lester E. Simcox, retiring president.

Steel Employees May Get Splendid Athletic Field

It would occasion no surprise should arrangements be made to furnish the employees of the Wheelersburg Steel Corporation, Portsmouth, with an athletic field, as the result of the chicken dinner which W. (Bud) Walters' Leans for the "Cricket" Springs, Tenn. last night. More than twenty men were here and everyone brought his appetite. The dinner was furnished in every way, and while "Bud" Walters demonstrated he was not much of a ball player when the famous game was played, one week ago last Sunday, he established himself as a most skillful enter and devoted enough chicken to place him in the league. At the conclusion of the feast, Stanley Hopkins assumed the role of toast master and acquitted himself with more ability than he had when he essayed the task of carrying the great game, which was won by the "Heavies" 28 to 13.

Mr. Hopkins at the outset started the athletic field proposition to blossoming into a reality. He spoke of the great good it would accomplish and he believed it could be secured. In his remarks he stated he was satisfied the officials would be glad to O. K. a proposition if it were found the employees desired the same. He was assured all along the line that such co-operation would be forthcoming, and it is quite likely the suggestions made last night will not only lead to an athletic field, but a place for the holding of winter sports, as well.

All sorts of fun was unceremoniously tossed to the evening. The manager of the Heavies, Mr. Wheeler, who stole five bases despite the fact he admits to 230 pounds, is a square sort of a sport in addition to being a real gentleman, and at the close issued a challenge to the Slims for a game of football to be played on November 7 this year. He made the mistake, however, of giving his lineup, which averaged 215 pounds a foot per man, and this so startled the Slims that they wanted time to think over the challenge before giving their answer.

Wheelerburg Man Brings Important News To Portsmouth

"I should like to tell every person in Portsmouth of what a wonderful medicine this Peppen, that is being sold at Fisher & Storch's pharmacy, is," said Mr. Dean Cheek, a well-known farmer living near Wheelerburg.

"Two months ago I had no idea my wife would be alive today. She was suffering agony with acute indigestion, which had been getting worse and worse every day."

"She was unable to get anything but having terrible attacks of gas and bloating and then would come on attacks of cramps and pains in her back and side."

"Her nerves were completely gone. The least little thing would upset her. She put anything in her stomach that she did not eat enough to keep alive."

"We had tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing gave her any lasting relief. I had given up hope of ever seeing her a well woman."

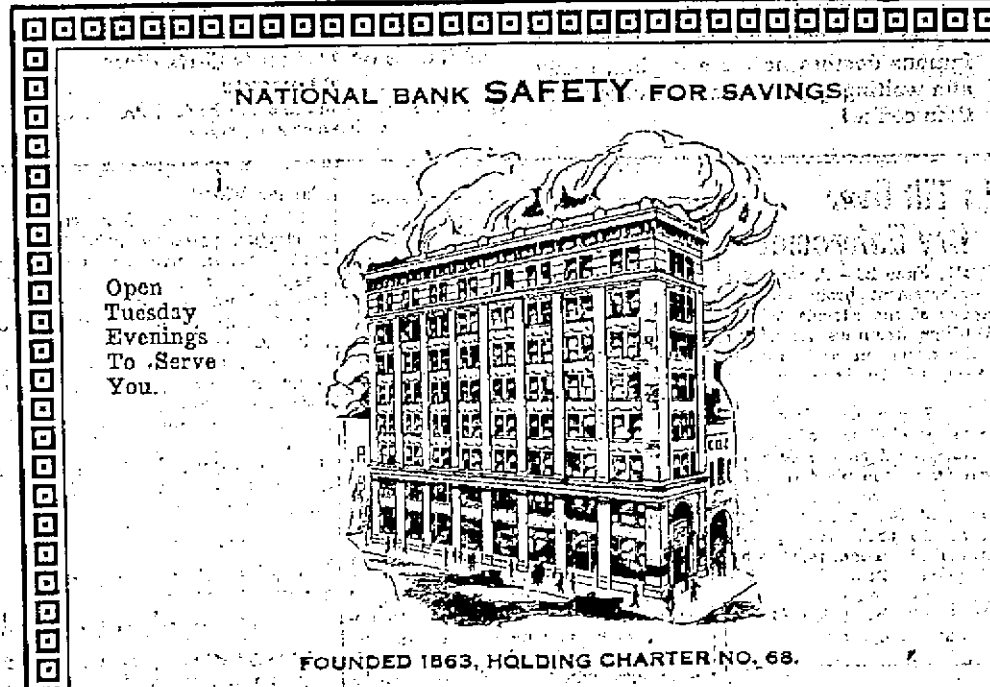

"Then I read of this Peppen, and thought I would get a bottle for her. Before the first bottle was gone I saw it was doing her good. She agreed with me, so we got more of the preparation and she continued to take it regularly. With each dose she continued to improve. Her appetite returned and she was able to eat without having those attacks of indigestion. Gradually her strength returned. She was able to sleep better at night and now Mrs. Cheek is well on the road to good health again."

"Peppen has been the cause of her recovery and I am grateful to be able to say a good word for it."

CAUTION: The Genuine Peppen is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher & Storch's Pharmacy; Kelso's Pharmacy, New Boston. There is a Peppen store in every nearby town.—Advertisement.

There was no concrete development in the effort of Mr. Davis, West Virginia neighbor to make him the party nominee for president, but there was a deal of complimentary talk from visiting delegates and leaders of the home town club movement from Clarksburg, professing much confidence that Mr. Davis would prove ultimately to be the man on whom the convention could find itself united.

The West Virginia delegation caused during the day, but business was confined to naming convention committee representatives.

There was no one nominated to take up the question of the presidential nomination in the caucus. "First, last and all the time," they declared.

Both the friends from Clarksburg and the delegation members continued to feel out Davis sentiment among various delegations and reported a remarkable amount of Davis as second choice feeling among individual delegates.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Delegates from 21 states met today with Governor Alfred E. Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt, his campaign manager, and many unexpected sources of support for the Democratic presidential nomination.

It was explained, however, that while the delegates who called did not, in all cases, represent the full delegations from the states they represented they let it be known that Governor Smith "had votes in them."

The states reported either in whole or in part were named by Mr. Roosevelt as follows:

Delaware, Virginia, North and South Dakota, Kentucky, Missouri, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska, Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi, West Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine.

1 to 2 Cents Gallon

NEW YORK, June 24.—Filling up of gasoline stock in various sections of the middlewest and south today brought another series of price cuts ranging from one to two cents a gallon.

Independent competition forced a reduction of two cents a gallon by the Standard Oil of Kentucky in Georgia and the lower prices were extended to the rest of its territory, including Alabama, Mississippi, Florida and Kentucky. The Standard Oil company of Ohio marked down service station prices one cent a gallon, the first cut since November.

Tells Democrats Victory Is Within Their Grasp; Urges Them To Unite Against Enemy

Not only in the administration, but in the enactment of laws these interests come first. The administration's late and lamented tax proposal was grown in the Mellon patches of special privilege. The legislation was a work of Republican art.

Rotteness of Proposal Revealed

For a while it was thought to be a very beautiful, large, colorful, and juicy thing. It attracted massed attention. The invited guests, a selected audience, were seated. The lights were few in number, and dimmed. The play began. The plot was simple. But when it was examined, and its parts dissected, its rotteness was revealed. No settling was ever more adroitly staged than when this scheme of taxation first made its debut. It was billed for passage at the psychological moment. The people were supposed to be weary of the head of taxation. For three long years they had felt their country slipping through the results of a riotous and detached administration. They had seen the natural resources of this government dissipated, its chartered course abandoned, its leaders corrupted. They saw the policy of passive bankruptcy at home, abroad and here.

Their hearts were heavy and their speech about duty and like phantasmal fancies of his flighty mind. He attempts to weave new webs of intrigue, and to again ensnare and mislead the American people. Too long has this cultured giant man and his intriguing school denied peace to our suffering world, and in their new-hatched World Court schemes all outraged people can not and will not again be defrauded.

Made Sluggish Move in Right Direction

The lamented Harding, in his late, hearted, sympathetic way, sounded sent the sunshine of happiness and the glow of prosperity into every American home.

A record that filled the pay envelopes of all wage earners and piled high every bank with countless resources.

A record that lifted agriculture from the low depths to which the Republican Party had tossed it to a commanding coming across the Blue Ridge Mountains and the historic city of St. Albans. We hear the minister of Woodrow Wilson, without calling to us: "To you, from the land of the free, we throw the torch." "God bless the land of the free," said old high school teacher; on: keep the faith, keep the faith."

Weather Officials Hold Conference With Business Men; Take Steps To Improve Forecasting System

Need of more adequate forecasts of approaching changes in weather and river conditions were brought to the attention of the United States Department of Agriculture Monday afternoon when H. C. Frankfield, chief of the "River and Flood" division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and W. G. Devereaux, U. S. river forecaster stationed at Cincinnati, visited this city and conferred with about twenty business men in the Chamber of Commerce offices. They came here primarily to inspect the government gauge on the Ohio river, which has been in need of repair.

Local River Observer F. B. Winter and Local Weather Observer Dr. Harry A. Schirman were highly complimented by the visiting officials on the manner in which they are taking care of their work in the River City.

After a visit to the Chamber of Commerce offices about noon yesterday as asking the Ohio Valley Improvement Association at its next meeting to petition the Department of Agriculture and Congress to give Ohio Valley a fuller service in the way of river and weather reports.

It was the opinion of all that everything possible is being done now with the limited amount of money available, but that more money should be provided, as one speaker stated, "to take care of this great and important section, just as millions are spent in fighting the evil weeds of the South; the hoof and mouth disease in the West." The speaker added that of course the money needed for this work would not run into any such sums as for the above work.

A. E. Singleton, of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, Portsmouth, and Mr. F. M. Briggs, who was also present being on the river and transportation committee of the C. of C.

Mr. Devereaux opened the meeting by telling of what his office is now doing, and how it can be of close touch on the streams around Cincinnati, and thus help to give timely warnings in case of high waters to the business interests there. He said he felt that Portsmouth was getting to be of such size and consequence as to be entitled to a similar service.

Mr. Devereaux then paid a fine compliment to Dr. H. A. Schirman, local weather observer, and F. B. Winter, river observer, saying that due to the unselfish service of these men and those who had preceded them, Portsmouth had now, perhaps the best records of any city in the state. Emphasizing the importance of these records, Mr. Devereaux said they would undoubtedly be studied and the knowledge gained from them play an important part in determining the location and other specifications for the new bridge that is to span the Ohio here.

Referring to the dams in the Ohio, Mr. Devereaux said they would only be operated to their greatest efficiency when the government had its own telephone lines connecting with them, but said there was no money at present for such an enterprise.

Dr. Schirman was called on to tell about his work, and said he was convinced from the number of calls he received concerning weather and river conditions that a fuller service here was a necessity.

Mayor Ralph Culbert expressed his interest in the service and said that city was always willing to co-operate in such work.

Floyd Fuller, of the Portsmouth Sand and Gravel company, said his company needed all the information concerning the river and the weather it could get. He said better contacts on the Scioto would be a good thing, and also complained of the slowness in getting dams into operation, calling attention to the fact his plant was shut down yesterday due to this cause.

Mr. Devereaux said fuller reports on the Scioto was one of the things they would like to give but it would take more money. As for the dams he said it always takes longer to open the wickets the first time in the spring.

It was suggested by Mr. Fuller that more help might be hired at this special time, but "money" again came to the front.

Mr. Winter, in a short talk, said that he made every effort to send out the river reports and forecasts to the larger industries, business men and farmers who would be affected by the changing stages. He also endorsed the plan for securing the stages of the Scioto river.

Dr. Frankfield at the beginning of a short talk, also praised Dr. Schirman and the other co-operative observers of the country, saying there were 4,500 of them, and they received nothing from their work except "a consciousness of their spirit of service."

As one of the hopes for the future, Dr. Frankfield gave "A government owned telephone from Pittsburgh to Cairo, with loops to New Orleans and to Davenport, Ia., gathering information concerning the river and the weather which would be given in bulletins to all cities along in the valley." He urged that a chart be made of the business interests affected at various stages of the Ohio and Scioto at this point, and Mr. Frick said he would see such a chart was made by the C. of C.

Mr. Singleton took of the anxiety at the steel plant during high water periods and how he had to call here and there to get more information than is furnished at present by the weather bureau. Others also spoke of the need of fuller information.

As a result of the visit of the two officials yesterday, bids will be asked for immediately on the repair of the government river gauge.

While no definite action could be taken at present agreed that the Ohio Valley is entitled to a better service along this line, and will endeavor to have action taken by the Ohio Valley Improvement association and other organizations which it is hoped will result in obtaining more money for this department of the government.

The resolution adopted at the meeting reads: "WHEREAS, there is a self evident need of more and adequate forecasts of approaching changes in weather, temperatures and probable precipitation, rise and fall of the Ohio and Scioto rivers and more suitable dissemination of this information; and

"THEREFORE, be it resolved that Congress and the secretary of the federal department of agriculture be memorialized to make more adequate appropriations for this service and that a reporting and every count be sent within this and adjoining states to the end that approaching changes of temperature and rise and fall of streams may be accurately forecasted; that crops and stock may be protected and life and property safeguarded."

Contract Awarded To Dr. Mills

At a recent meeting of the Clay Township Board of Trustees, Dr. A. B. Mills of New Boston, was awarded the contract for looking after the fill of the river for the coming year, starting July 1. The bid was $500 and was the only one submitted.

Bids asked for on the construction of a concrete retaining wall on Tiddle Creek, Long Run hills, were too high and the Trustees decided to re-tenderize the job. The estimate on the work is $700 while the three bids submitted ranged from $1,020 to $1,640.

The price dropped one cent yesterday. Gas, which last week was 20 cents per gal on at the tank wagon and 22 cents per gallon at the service stations, is now 19 cents at the tank wagon and 21 cents at the service stations.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(By the United Press)—The second important step in formation of a great 10,000 mile rail system to be known presumably as the Nickel Plate System, and which will comprise consolidation of the New York Central, Chicago, St. Louis, and C. & O., Erie, Pere Marquette with possible inclusions of Virginia and Pittsburgh and West Virginia has been completed with virtual acquisition of Erie controlled by Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland.

Both Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Virginia have been mentioned frequently as likely roads for Van Sweringen to take over but it is doubtful if any action will be taken toward acquiring either of these properties this year.

President Needles Of N. & W. To Confer With Officials On Crossing Elimination Proposals

Another step toward the proposed elimination of one or more grade crossings in the city is expected to be taken Thursday morning when President A. C.

Needles of the Norfolk and Western, and General Superintendent H. C. Weller come to Portsmouth to confer with officials of the N. & W. and the Railroad, Telephone and Telegraph Committee of City Council.

Chairman E. A. Steadman of the Council Committee received word Monday that the N. & W. officials would be here and in order to have some kind of plan to present to the officials when they arrive the committee will meet tonight in the office of Attorney W. L. Dickey. Attorney Dickey and James Hooper are the other members of the committee.

The three councilmen hope to arrange a definite program for making a start on the crossing elimination program, practical enough to meet with the approval of the railroad officials. The conference will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning in the office of Attorney Henry T. Bauman. Mr. Needles and Mr. Weller are expected to canvas the situation here with regard to need for a new depot, while in the city.

At a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce attended by the representative business men of the city, it was unanimously resolved that the grade crossings of the city should be eliminated as soon as possible. Following the action of this meeting city council immediately took action which has led to the coming conference, when those favoring the project, hope something definite will be decided upon.

Americans Subjected To Discourteous Customs Examination By Japanese

YOKOHAMA, June 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—American passengers on the steamship President Madison were subjected to a vigorous and rather discourteous customs examination when the vessel docked today, until higher officials were informed of the change in methods and intervened and apologized. At least one American victim of the disagreeable innovation was a woman. The passengers were forced to undergo a most rigorous search, including removal of their shoes, leaving them standing on a wet floor.

The unprecedented examination lasted an hour, when higher customs officials suddenly intervened and restored the normally courteous methods of examination. A complaint has been lodged with the United States consulate here, and an official investigation started.

Alleged Knife Wielder Surrenders To Police

A negro, giving his name as Willie Harrison, walked into the police station today and informed the police that he was the man they were looking for in connection with a cutting party in the North End supposed to have happened Sunday evening. The negro, who was slashed, gave his name as William Davis and asked the police to look for his assailant. A quick search was made and a man was picked up in Waverly on an investigation charge by Officer McFarland, supposed to have been connected with the cutting. It was afterward found that he was the wrong man as Davis could not identify him. Today, however, when Harrison came to headquarters, a new light was thrown on the affair. He said to the desk sergeant: "I want to give myself up for being in the cutting scrape Sunday and I want to tell how it happened as I don't think I am in the wrong." Chief Arthur, after hearing his story, let the man go without placing him under arrest, and no charge has been made. It seems that the fight started in a dice game near Twelfth street over some change that Harrison said was due him. Davis was not seriously wounded.

Ralston Will Be Placed In Nomination

NEW YORK, June 24. — Hoosier delegates put Senator Ralston of Indiana, actively into the presidential race here today.

At a meeting marked by great enthusiasm, the delegates decided to have Fred Von Nuls, former United States attorney for Indiana and a Ralston law partner, put the senator in nomination and to cast Indiana's 30 votes for him "from then on."

Decision to place Ralston's name formally before the convention was a surprise to delegates.

nominate. On the basis of instructions given in state conventions and primaries, and the expressed preferences of those who are uninstructed, the present figures of the 1,005 delegates is to allocate their support on the initial roll call among a full score of candidates.

On that basis and in round numbers the outlook at the moment is that William G. McAdoo will have in the neighborhood of 450 votes on the first ballot and that Governor Al Smith will be in second place with about 250.

Most of the remaining 400 votes are purloined out in blocks of about 50 or less. Senator Underhill of Maine, U. S. Senator Ralston, and possibly John W. Davis appear to have some where around 50 first ballot votes.

H. J. McGraw, George Smith, W. A. Smith and Charles Campbell, who were caught in the police net over the week-end for intoxication, were assessed $5, and costs each by Judge Sprague in Municipal court Monday. Charles Spence, a stranger here who was picked up for drunkenness was given a chance to leave town.

THE GREATEST OPPORTUNITY OF YOUR LIFETIME TO OWN YOUR OWN HOME

Undoubtedly the most desirable addition ever opened in this part of the state—located near Franklin Fce., which is destined to become the workshop of the world, and the most thriving community in the Ohio valley—ten minutes ride from the big steel plant—twenty minutes ride from the heart of Portsmouth—one-half mile from Light House Beach which is rapidly gaining a most enviable reputation, becoming the playgrounds of thousands.

"GRANDVIEW HEIGHTS" is an addition of more than 400 choice lots, every one properly graded, with gas and electricity, and facing the paved A-P. Highway, and with all civic and modern improvements headed in that direction. "GRANDVIEW HEIGHTS" will be the key to a bigger and better Portsmouth that is sure to arise in that vicinity. The lots are 40x120, and there is not a foot of ground in the new addition but commands a splendid view of the country round about. In fact, were you to look for a suburban lot anywhere in this vicinity, you could not find a more ideal location.

Make your own price—and then pay $25 down, and $5 per month, balance in deferred payments and bearing but 6 per cent interest.

ATTEND THIS GREAT AUCTION SALE OF LOTS ON

H. C. Hawkins, of Maysville, Ky., one of the world's most famous auctioneers will be in charge of the sale. Mr. Hawkins, who came here and personally inspected the addition, claims that the lots are the finest he ever saw, and is authority for statement that they will treble in value within a comparatively short time. Mr. Hawkins knows Portsmouth and her possibilities and his word should carry great weight, for he knows whereof he speaks.

TRACTION LINE, CANNONBALL LINE, N. & W.—All pass the very door
 "GRANDVIEW HEIGHTS"—These transportation facilities will add to the value the addition—then the Ohio river is but a short distance away and it is bound to play an important part in the development of this as well as surrounding properties. Just short time ago, one of the largest industries in the country optioned almost 4000 acres of land in this vicinity which they wanted for manufacturing purposes. Had this concern been able to option four desired tracts, their plant would now be building. Keep your eye on the Franklin Fce territory—it is as sure to develop as Portsmouth grows Eastward.

Come and spend the day with us, for thousands of people will be there. Every son who has looked over the addition is excited over its possibilities. We could have a hundred lots, but we decided to refuse all offers, so we could give every contemplated purchaser a chance to select his own lot.
